SHEEHAN IS THE MAN

The Police Official Who Made Overtures to Dr. Parkhurst.

Hindered in His Purpose by Over-Cautious Frank Moss.

Dr. Parkhurst Willing to Meet on Neutral Ground.

Over his own signature, Police Commissioner John C. Sheehan comes out this country. to-day and boldly announces that he was n official referred to as one of the number making overtures to Rev. Dr in exposing the rottenness of the De partment and punishing the offenders. These overtures, for the present, are off altogether. There is an intimation, however, that his offer may yet be accepted. Commissioner Sheehan, in admitting that he is the party referred to, does not tell all the story in the statement given out. He does not, for instance, say that he made the overtures to Dr. Parkhurst

"At that time I stated that I would meet him by appointment, either at Police Headquarters or at any other suitable place. I was satisfied that the other Commissioners would be also glad to see him.

"There was no thought on my part of supplying any information to him, and the suggestion that I was afraid of the issue of the present controversy is too ridiculous to be considered.

"My sole idea was to demonstrate to Dr. Parkhurst that his view of obstruction on the part of the Police Commissioners, was based upon lack of knowledge of the real facts."

Just at the most interesting noint Commissioner Sheehan stops short in his statement. He does not say why he did not meet Dr. Parkhurst. The fact is that the latter refused to meet him without first consulting his counsel, Lawyer Frunk Moss.

The latter believed a trap had been laid, and said that Sheehan should only be seen at Dr. Parkhurst's own residence. Commissioner Sheehan differed to see them on neutral ground, but his offer was not accepted.

Dr. Parkhurst said this afternoon that the story of the overtures made to him as told in the first edition of "The Evening World" to-day was correct. He was sorry, however, that the facts had leaked out. He said he fully appreciated Mr. Sheehan's position, and that no blame attached to the latter in the matter. He was willing now to meet the Commissioner on neutral territory.

At 6.20 o'clock this morning Policeman Hughes, who has Second avenue as his post, discovered that the three-story to bacco warehouse of Isaac Dankowitz, at 1078 Second avenue, had been robbed. He had found everything secure an hour before, but on the next round saw that burglars had cut away the panels of the rear door. An investigation showed that the burglars had stolen in that short time $1,000 worth of leaf tobacco.

Hughes, who at once ordered Detectives O'Donohue and Murphy to go on a hunt for the burglars.

Accompanied by Foliceman Hughes, the detectives were on their way back to the tobacco warehouse when they saw Mitchell, alias Fitzgerald, and the second burgiar standing on the corner opposite the tobacco warehouse. Before the detectives had time to reach their side the thieves turned into Fifty-sixth street towards Third avenue.

On the police cry of "Halt, or we'll shoot," both burglars turned, each with a revolver in hand, and fired. The bullets whizzed close to the officers' heads, and they returned the compliment by firing three shots at the fleeing men.

The detectives purposely fired over the men's heads, as they did not wish to wound them.

The burglars were not apparently frightened. Mitchell continued running, while the second burgiar turned about, fired two more shots at his pursuers, and then heads in the pursuers, and then heads in the pursuers, and then heads in the pursuers.

Mitchell ran into the hallway of Friedthal's clothing store, at the northwest corner of Fifty-sixth street and Third avenue. When he found his passage blocked by John Timme, a porter, nise-ten years old, he put the revolver to Timme's head and said, "Make way or I il bill you."

Timme jumped aside and Mitchell passed up the stairs to the roof, followed by the descrive and several patrolmen, who had by this time joined in the to shoot again, as the police were too close to his heels, and fearing a builet from them, he kept on the run. With a jump he disappeared down the skylight of the adjoining house, at 157 East Fifty-sixth sixth street.

Mrs. Ench was half frightened to death at the sudden appearance of the burg-lar, but before she could scream, if she had such an intention, he pressed the revolver to her forehead and hissed, "Course, the fact that this New Year's eve comes on Sunday may mitigate this portion of the nuisance. Hearing the footsteps of his pursuers spproaching Mitchell crawled under a bed in the rear room.

Mrs. Ench, at the appearance of the police, was too frightened to speak, but pointed to the burglar's hiding place.

Detectives O'Donohue and Murphy fearlessly approached the bed, and with revolvers drawn and pointed at him, Mitchell was made to surrender.

He was given the "third degree," and he finally confessed who the second burglar was. He said that the stolen leaf tobacco was secreted in the cellar of 30 East Fifty-sixth street, which is a few doors from the tobacco warehouse.

All the stolen property was recovered and is at present in the care of Police Capt. Rellly. The police are confident of capturing the second burglar.

Justice Welde, in the Yorkville Police Court, remanded Mitchell.
